2019 Guide to Corporate and Personal Giving

Join Industry Leaders Powering Airlink

Put the Power and Speed of Aviation to Work Supporting Communities in Crisis through Disaster and Humanitarian Response

Together, Airlink and its 80 humanitarian and disaster response partners reach more than two million people annually thanks to our airline partners, and your generous financial support. Disasters and crises happen throughout the year - both large and small. Each is monumental for the people and communities impacted. Your gift provides a steady stream of funding between disasters while we continue to work with NGO and airline partners on preparedness and capacity building to make our responses more powerful.

- Hope

Since 1970 the number of disasters worldwide has quadrupled, to around 400 a year. So, whether it’s an ongoing refugee crisis, destructive weather event, or a pandemic, it is both the speed and the continuity of response that makes the difference for people in peril. Airlines and the aviation sector are uniquely suited to deliver disaster response - to help humanitarian responders and their supplies get to where they need to go quickly.

Airlink is uniquely placed between the nonprofit and aviation sectors to create linkages that improve response times and efficacy. Our recently launched Regional Response Framework helps both Airlink and its partners mobilize a timely response to humanitarian crises, address known and potential logistical challenges, and build a common understanding among aviation and nonprofit partners of the coordination and aid delivery services available. Funds will be used to improve preparedness and resiliency in the region and to empower the rapid mobilization of donated, discounted and chartered air assets to respond to disasters from “first mile” to “last mile.”
